MONGOLIA'S PASSENGERS WERE ANGRY

RETURNING ISLANDERS BY THE BIG LINER HAD AN UNCOMFORTABLE TIME GETTING ASHORE—THROUGH PASSENGERS HAD TO PAY TO COME ASHORE IN LAUNCHES—A ROUGH SEA, MUCH DELAY AND A GENERAL FEELING OF WRATH.

It was an angry crowd of passengers' leap which landed him on the Pioneer's deck. The passage was through a coal hole, on to a platform and then to the deck. There were plenty of passengers ashore here were roared to a finish all day and as a sort of climax fare was charged in many cases for the trip ashore—$1 to land in Honolulu and $2 to land and return. At these rates tickets were sold to passengers who had paid $75 to be landed in Honolulu or sent to the Orient via Honolulu.

For about an hour and a half after the vessel was passed by the quarantine officers, nothing was done to get passengers ashore. The barge Pioneer had the right of way for a couple of hours with baggage. Returning Honolulu passengers and through passengers who wanted to see Honolulu had to wait while huge piles of baggage were disposed of.

The weather made leaving the big steamer an exciting business, which was enjoyed or otherwise according to the disposition of the passengers, but in most cases it was far from being enjoyed, and there is no doubt that Honolulu received a very bad advertisement from the whole affair. "They ought to put this sort of thing on their promotion committee postal cards," said one passenger who had been lured to Honolulu by Promotion ads. To put a climax on the whole trouble, a heavy downpour of rain came just as the passengers were being huddled on the black, coal-dust-covered deck of the Pioneer. A few ladies gathered in the pilotroom. One lifted an edge of the tarpaulin which covered baggage and crawled under with a baby in her arms. The rest stood and looked miserable, "cussed" the company, the Mongolia, the launch, the weather, the sea, Honolulu and everything else in sight. "Just like Laupahoehoe," said a returning kamaaina as he took the flying leap.

$200,000 BANK FOR KAHULUI

AN AMBITIOUS FINANCIAL INSTITUTION SAID TO BE A PART OF THE PLANS FOR THE TOWN OF KAHULUI—D. C. LINDSAY, LATELY ASSISTANT MANAGER FOR THE MAUI AGRICULTURAL COMPANY IS TO BE AT THE HEAD OF IT.

WAILUKU, November 22.—The latest rumor in line with the development of the town of Kahului is that the seaport town of Central Maui is to have a banking institution to be capitalized at $200,000, and that the same will have its place of business on the first floor of the masonic temple, which will very shortly be built at Kahului. It is stated that D. C. Lindsay, who has resigned his position as assistant manager of Maui Agricultural Company, will be the cashier of the new institution, and that the promoters of the new bank are H. P. Baldwin, S. M. Damon of Honolulu, and those interested in Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd. That a bank is to be established at Kahului seems to be definitely settled, and the rumor goes that they intend commencing business on the first of January. The date of commencement may be later as it will be impossible to have the new masonic temple erected by the first of the new year, unless the new bank will commence operations in some other building.

It is understood that it will be the policy of the promoters of the new financial institution to distribute a edge, not by mere hearsay. But as I say, I have no wish to be drawn into any controversy over what I said. I have not sought this interview, but I have said nothing which I wish to withdraw or for which I wish to apologize.

"It might be of interest for me to tell how I came to make any speech at all at the Mohonk Conference," he resumed. "I had to go on to legal business in connection with the settling up of an estate and arranged to go to Williamstown, Mass., where my son is at college, there to meet the remainder of my family.

"I received a letter from Mr. Smiley of the Mountain House inviting me to attend the Mohonk Conference. The discussion was to be on 'Indian Affairs and those of the Weaker Peoples connected with the United States.' I went with the specific understanding that I should not be called on to speak. First Professor Hosmer, formerly of Oahu College spoke on Hawaiian affairs and after hearing the drift of his remarks I was firm in my resolve not to speak. He was followed by Charles Gilman of Boston, who once represented Hawaii there and by Prof. Hitchcock of Dartmouth, who recently visited here.

"Prof. Hitchcock, in his address, made a reference to the Central Union church and after he had concluded, Dr. Lyman Abbott, who presided, said to my utter surprise, that the pastor of the Central Union church was present, he was informed, and the conference would like to hear from him. I simply rose and bowed my acknowledgments and sat down.

"But they would not let me stay down. There were cries for a speech and at last I had to get up again. I spoke for a few minutes and was about to resume my seat again but the conference would not let me so then I broke through my resolve and said what I said.

"By the way, I did not say that I was opposed to Chinese immigration to Hawaii. I said the contrary. I did say that the American workingman had nothing to fear from the Chinese but that they had good cause to fear the Japanese and I advocated the admission of a certain number of Chinese to this territory. Afterwards the committee on Resolutions came to me and asked me to draft a paragraph regarding Chinese immigration, saying that they would put in anything that I should compose for submission to the president. I did this but as I left early I was not present when the resolutions were submitted."

Rev. Dr. Kincaid said that he enjoyed his trip even though it was hurried. He spoke in his old church in Minneapolis and was delighted to meet old friends there again.

MONEY TO SURVEY HILO BREAKWATER

LIEUT. SLATTERY THE ARMY ENGINEERING OFFICER RECEIVED AUTHORITY TO PROCEED.

Authority has been received from Washington by Lieutenant Slattery, the army engineering officer to proceed with the preliminary surveys for the Hilo Breakwater. The authorization and an allowance of $1,000 for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the survey, arrived by the mail on the S. S. Mongolia yesterday.

This authorization shows that the recommendations of Lieutenant Slattery in favor of having plans prepared to determine whether a breakwater at Hilo can be constructed within the amount named by him in his tentative estimate, $1,250,000 have been approved. He will make the survey and prepare the plans by the first of the year.

Preceding the indoor service there will be the regular open air meeting.

NEVADA'S FINE REDUCED.

A fine of $500 for not filing a correct manifest of cargo levied against the S. S. Nevada some time ago by the local collector, has been mitigated to $25. It appears that the mistake in the manifest which failed to enumerate about 300 hogs and 1 cow had been due to a clerical error on the part of the San Francisco office.

foreign countries as Bishop & Co. of Honolulu, and the probabilities are very strong that Bishop & Co. will be the Honolulu correspondents, inasmuch as Mr. Damon is mentioned as one of the promoters of the new institution.

NEW BILL AT THE ORPHEUM

"MINTE CRISTO," THAT EVER PLEASING DRAMA OF ACTION WILL BE GIVEN TONIGHT.

"Monte Cristo" is the bill at the Orpheum tonight and for the balance of the week. The Bühler players have played this old standard several times on the mainland so that it did not require much rehearsing to polish them up for this evening.

The character of Edmund Dantes is particularly suited to Mr. Bühler's physical personality. It requires a handsome dashing and romantic actor to properly interpret this role. James O'Neill who first brought the character into prominence was one of the handsomest actors of his day.

This play is one of the most popular on the stage today and people never seem to weary of seeing it. There is something so picturesque and Frenchy with a Corsican flavor about it, that it appeals to our primeval instincts in its motive of vengeance.

Tonight there will be pretty scenic effects especially the prison of the Chateau d'If and the escape.

The entire company are suitably cast and the promise of a well-balanced performance is given. There will be a matinee Saturday.

"Churimbo" As a Cause For Murder

A DEADLY JAPANESE INSULT WHICH IS SAID TO HAVE CAUSED A TRAGEDY.

The word "Churimbo" was the deadly insult which led to the tragedy for which Takada is being tried on a charge of murder in the first degree. The deceased, a Japanese named Fujita, is said to have applied the term to Takada, thereby so deeply insulting him that he first attacked Fujita with a bottle and then stabbed him with a knife, with fatal effect.

Churimbo is a Japanese term for outcast. It is a survival of old military Japan and represents a class of people who no longer exist as a class. Under the old military order there were four classes of people who were really worthy of being called Japanese at all. The military were on top and were nearly the whole thing but three other classes, the merchants, the artisans and professionals were at least some potatoes. Beneath them all, and not to be counted a citizens at all, having no vote and no occupation and not even worthy of being associated with at all, were the "Churimbo." Hence when a Jap wants to get in a particularly bad insult he calls another Churimbo. Since the emperor abolished the classes and declared all Japanese to be equal, the former Churimbo are called "new citizens." This is why, it is said, that Takada used a bottle over Fujita's head when the latter told him he was a Churimbo and didn't pay his board.

The wife of the deceased was on the witness stand most of yesterday and this morning, giving the jury their first account of the alleged murder. In reply to questions by Deputy Attorney General Fleming, she gave her version of the occurrence. She told of the insult that was passed and said that Takada hit her husband over the head with a bottle, causing a wound which bled considerably. Then the defendant ran away and while Fujita was washing the blood off his face, Takada attacked him with a knife, said the woman.

In cross examination A. Perry brought out that there had been a celebration, and sake was indulged in by all parties. He also cross-examined the witness at length regarding statements she is said to have made at other times, and alleged differences between her testimony now and at the coroner's inquest.

HEAVY RAINS IN ALL THE ISLANDS

FROM VARIOUS REPORTS RECEIVED COPIOUS SHOWERS EXPERIENCED ON MAUI AND HAWAII.

Rains have been general about the islands. News from Hawaii and Maui this morning is to the effect that the rainfall has been general about those sections. By the steamer Noeau comes the news that Pahaia has had 2.07 inches of rain recently and other sections of Hawaii have also been visited around the island the sea generally setting in with a northerly swell.

By the steamer Claudine is the news that rains have been general about the island of Maui. Very heavy downpours have prevailed, the island being fairly drenched during the last three days. The rain fell at Lahaina this week which is an unusual occurrence during northerly weather.

Recent steamers from Kauai have brought news of heavy rains on the Garden Isle.

The rainfall on this island has been very heavy during the last few days and it is likely that news from the other islands, not thus far reported, will tell of copious showers. It is to be hoped that Lanai has been visited by some of the storm that appears to have visited the other islands of the group.

LARGE STEAMERS FOR OIL TRADE

THE TRANSPORTATION OF OIL BY SEA IS RAPIDLY GROWING AND MORE STEAMERS NEEDED.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 18.—The oil industry on this coast has now advanced to such a point that at the present time there is not sufficient tonnage to enable the prompt transportation of the commodity. A short time ago the Union Oil Company purchased four of the largest oil-carrying steamers on the eastern coast, and now the National Oil and Transportation Company has contracted with the Newport News Shipbuilding Company for a vessel that will be more than twice as large as the steamer Asuncion.

The new steamer will be 400 feet in length, 50 feet beam and 30 feet depth of hold. She will be able to carry 50,000 barrels of oil, and it is intended to run her between Monterey, which is the terminus of the company's pipe line, and Portland. The Union Oil Company expects the first of the new steamers to arrive at this port in about two months.

Captain Watson, who is at the head of the National Oil and Transportation Company, had also purchased a steamer with a carrying capacity of 4,000 tons, to be used in the Hilo and San Francisco run in conjunction with the steamer Enterprise. The steamer is now at Newport News Shipbuilding Company's yard, being overhauled. In a few days Captain Watson will award a contract for another freight steamer.
